“SOME OF THEM REPORTED BEING SHOT AT AND NOT BY LAW ENFORCEMENT.”

Dr. Kate Spradley, Ph.D., Director of the Forensic Anthropology Center at Texas State University and the subject-matter-expert in charge of Operation Identification stated in a videotaped interview on June of 2018 that “one of the really disturbing things that I found out since I started doing this work, I was working with some colleagues in Arizona and they were doing some ethnographic research on the migrants who actually survived the crossing and who came to set up here in the United States and some of them reported being shot at and not by law enforcement.”
