“TOM’S ARMY IS NOW PRESIDENT TRUMP’S VIGILANTE NIGHTMARE”

Tom Tancredo has spent over a decade building what he proudly calls TOM’S ARMY as shown in his 2008 Presidential campaign button. To the untrained eye, this is a metaphor but ample evidence indicates that this terminology is a “dog whistle” to the militias he has mobilized to patrol the southern border with lethal force. This Concept of Operations (CONOPS) was secretly organized with the assistance of his Italian-American paisano and protégé, Maricopa County Sheriff Joe Arpaio. Tancredo’s obsessive focus on the Second Amendment, his frequenting of hunting clubs and gun stores as the backdrop for his race for Governor of Colorado, his hard-core gun enthusiasm is code to his supporters to fight immigration by sending vigilante special ops teams to the border to use lethal force. The vigilantes that were prominently displayed during the Charlottesville incidents on August 11 of 2017 are proud members of TOM’S ARMY. Their uniforms clearly indicate that a “dress-code” is in place with specific guidelines on attire and accessories that is followed by the militias. Tancredo sold his political playbook to Candidate Trump, therefore TOM’S ARMY is now President Trump’s armed militia problem. Intercepted communications by private investigators indicate that vigilante leaders are in direct communication with the White House. They boast openly about taking their orders from the Oval Office and from President Trump himself for specific assignments they have carried out in the Canadian border and on the US-Mexico border.
